CLAIMS PROCEDURE

1. Upon receiving a complaint that our product has caused damage due to being faulty, etc., we should be informed immediately by our customer, either by fax or e-mail stating the full name and contact details of the claimant.
2. A copy of the POD and invoice must be faxed or e-mailed (and be within the guarantee period of one year) before a plumber can be phoned for a call out. Also, all possibilities must be considered before we send out a plumber. It is recommended that you, the customer, send one of your reps out to analyse the situation first. Please note: If the product is not ours or the fault is your customers', you the customer will be billed for the plumbers call out and related costs.
3. Thereafter we will send out an accredited plumber to the site where there has been damage to ascertain the cause of damage respectively to effect repairs. Please note: that if the product has been removed before our accredited plumber has attended the site, there is a strong possibility that the claim could be null en void.
4. A detailed incident report must be submitted.
5. Quotations for cost to repair must be submitted.
6. Should damage on one or more of our products occur after hours, on a weekend or during public holidays, and the claimant calls out their own plumber, a claim should be put in with the claimant's own insurers, who can then contact us, who in turn will liaise with their own insurance company.
7. All claim incidents MUST BE photographed.
8. Once a plumber and/or insurance assessor has been to the site where there has been damage, and the repairs have been affected, the faulty product must be sent to us forthwith as no claims will be entertained without the faulty product returned to us. These products will undergo various testing to confirm that the product is ours and that it has not been tampered with in anyway.
9. Any claim older than 3 months that has not been actioned will be closed. Those claims that are 3 months or older and are still in the process of being finalised will be honoured.
10. Consequential damage is the homeowner's responsibility and they must claim on their own insurance.

Please note that this procedure has to be adhered to as outlined by our Insurance Company for ALL CLAIMS.
